

Chip's Chatter

Last month we addressed the relevancy of today's church. We looked at the results in our society as we diverge further and further away from church relevancy. This month we will expand on last month's article with the question: Do God's Laws still apply or are they, like church, becoming irrelevant. Does relevancy of the church stand on its own or has irrelevancy grown out of the abandonment of God's Laws? There are four possible combinations: (1) The church is still relevant and God's Laws are still relevant; (2) The church is still relevant and God's Laws are or becoming irrelevant; (3) The church is irrelevant and God's laws remain relevant; (4) The church has become irrelevant and God's Laws have also become irrelevant.

Grant Jeffrey in the introduction to his book entitled, "The Signature of God – Astonishing Biblical Discoveries," (July 1196, Frontier Research Publications, Inc.) writes "The primary purpose of the Bible is to reveal God's plan of salvation. However, whenever the Scriptures deal with history, archeology, nature, or since, it reveals advanced knowledge that is true and verifiable. Such biblical statements are far in advance of the knowledge of the time of the original human writer." He goes on to write "The Scriptures contain advanced medical and sanitation knowledge that was thousands of years ahead of its time. This medical knowledge from the Bible has saved countless millions of lives of those who followed its divine precepts over the centuries since the Bible was written. In addition, its lifesaving commands still prove their worth in this century." God's Laws were true then and they are true today. Yet, some insist some of God's Laws are no longer valid and therefore can be ignored.

God's Laws are written throughout the Bible. The two primary books dealing with God's Laws are Leviticus and Deuteronomy which are part of the Pentateuch, or first five books of the Bible. We are most familiar with the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20:2-17). Note that these are commandments, not the ten "suggestions." The Old Testament book of Leviticus is one of the primary sources of God's Laws for daily living. The book may seem harsh and outdated, but as we learn from Grant Jeffrey, every law is designed for our health and well-being. Other writers of both the New and Old Testaments frequently take God's Laws into account. Deuteronomy restates God's Laws.

I recently recovered an old article from a retired USAF Fighter Pilot entitled "A Few Things I Learned as a Fighter Pilot," (M. Ross Shullmister, LtCol, USAF Ret dated 7 Dec 2004) Item number 5 on his list seems to apply not only to the Fighter Pilot profession, but also as an everyday application for you and me:

5. "There are Rules and there are Laws"

- a. The rules are made by those who think that they know better how to fly your airplane than you.
- b. The Laws (for example Physics) were made by the Great One (translation – God)
- c. You can, and sometimes should, suspend the Rules but you can never suspend the Laws.”

Item b. above applies to all of us. In aerial combat, there is constant trade-off between Kinetic Energy and Potential Energy (physics) but we always stay within the Laws of Physics, Aerodynamics, Energy Management, etc. Likewise, we need to remain within all of God's Laws to enjoy the gift of life we have been given. Has the culture abandoned all or part of God's laws? Has our quest for “cultural accommodation” instead of “confessional affirmation” driven this abandonment?

Here are some interesting facts about the Bible. There are 20 million copies sold each year. This equates to 1.66 million sold per month; 384,615 per week; or 54,945 per day. Did you know 85% of American households own a Bible? The average number of Bibles per household is 4.3!

Interestingly, only one in five Americans has read through the Bible at least once. Trends in reading habits over four years showed that a majority of Americans never read the Bible. A recent Gallup survey found that less than 50% of Americans can name the first book of the Bible. Only 1 in 3 Bible owners know it was Jesus who delivered the Sermon on the Mount. A popular answer is Billy Graham! And, 12 % of Christians believe Noah was married to Joan of Arc! So many Bibles out there and such little understanding!

The first thing we need to do to reverse the trend toward irrelevancy of God's Laws is to read and study the scriptural laws. In Leviticus, we learn about the necessity of cleanliness for food, childbirth, diseases, etc. These Laws are found in chapters 11 to 15. The moral Laws are covered in chapters 18-20 and begin with unlawful sexual relations. These chapters continue and addresses incest, honesty, thievery, idolatry, etc.

In Romans chapter 1 beginning with verse 18, Paul reveals God's wrath. Paul writes “The wrath of God is being revealed from heaven against all the godlessness and wickedness of men who suppress the truth by their wickedness.” According to Paul God's responsive action was: “.....therefore, God gave them over.” This means God allowed sin to run its course as an act of judgment. The verses that follow have been called “the 21-sin salute.” Each is followed by “.....therefore God gave them over.” God pulls his hand of protection against those that continue to sin. I will leave you to decide where our society or country is today. Is God about ready to “hand us over” or to pull His “hand of protection” over us?

A couple of weeks ago in my Sunday message, I referenced an upcoming special event at an L. A. Dodgers home baseball game. The L.A. Dodgers baseball team is preparing to honor a Catholic and Christian hate group known as “The Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence.” They are a group of men who dress up in sexually explicit and rainbow-colored “nun” clothing with one purpose: To mock Christians. The group has entered churches and desecrated altars and even the Eucharist. They have even done “pole dances” on the Cross. They have contests to see who can be the most “drag” Jesus. How would you respond if they came to Bemidji and we honored them at the County Fair?

Whenever I hear about some new social concern or something that runs contrary to my upbringing, I like to see what God's Word has to say on the subject. This can be difficult at times. Some Bibles have a “Concordance” at the end with key words listed that help you find the information. The best method I have found to date is through the internet. Use your internet browser and simply ask the question. For example, type in "Where is (fill in the topic) found in the Bible? You will be surprised how quickly it takes you to the subject. It also takes you to people's ideas that run contrary to what scripture says. Having trouble finding a particular verse in the Bible? Just enter a couple of words you remember from the verse you are looking for. Your browser will find it.

One thing I have never found in the Bible. I can't find where the Bible says where we are allowed to change God's Laws, or to dispense with God's Laws and/or totally abandon some of them (or even all of them)? I challenge everyone to look for our authorization to change scripture.

The bottom line to all this discussion is simply this: Has church become irrelevant because we have allowed God's Laws to be come irrelevant? Or worse yet, has the church remained relevant but looked at God's Laws as being irrelevant today. Each of us needs to answer those questions and let our behavior match our answer.

Blessings, Chip

I LIKE TO CALL IT PRAYER

To seek the heights and depths of thought

And pause in silence there;

Some call it meditation...

I like to call it prayer.

To look out on the troubled world

And find the true and fair;

Some call it contemplation...

I like to call it prayer

To give oneself for others.

To lift and love and share;

Some call it consecration...

I like to call it prayer.

To sense a silent, reverent awe

At beauty everywhere;

Some call it adoration...

I like to call it prayer.
